

IEH Laboratories & Consulting Group acquires FOODPROTECH® Ltd. Co.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Stillwater- October 21, 2010

FOODPROTECH® Ltd. Co announced the sale of its business to IEH Laboratories & Consulting Group (IEH), a Seattle, WA based corporation. IEH owns and operates an extensive network of laboratories across the United States, focused on providing testing and consulting services to the food industry.

FOODPROTECH® will continue to be located in Stillwater, OK and will operate under the name IEH- FOODPROTECH. FOODPROTECH® opened in 2003 with one Oklahoma client and now serves a nationwide client base. Services include testing food products for the microorganisms that cause food borne illnesses and food spoilage, and consulting and training in this area.

All personnel associated with FOODPROTECH® have been hired by IEH, thereby ensuring the continuity of operations during the ownership transition. The laboratory's customers will be the immediate beneficiaries of the strength of the IEH network that includes 52 laboratories and over 60 Ph.D. level scientists and food safety consultants across multiple food-related disciplines. IEH-FOODPROTECH will continue to provide microbiology testing and consulting services to the food industry. Over time, IEH-FOODPROTECH's capabilities will be expanded to provide more services and value to its current and future customers.

Both companies are committed to ensuring a smooth transition of customers and personnel and look forward to an ongoing partnership between the two companies.
